Skoog Story: Adam Goldberg - Apple Distinguished Educator, Music, Special Education.

Adam Goldberg is an Apple Distinguished Educator and a pioneer in the field of music education. For many years now Adam has been using iPad to provide his special needs students with access to high quality music making opportunities and now he is using Skoog to extend the creative possibilities offered by iPad.

"The very intelligently designed Skoog, in combination with the awesome Skoog musical instrument is a true gift to music makers of all levels! I use Skoog with my Special Needs students to empower them as viable music makers. They love using Skoog. And the app with its powerful yet easy to access Bluetooth and MIDI implementation, brings great versatility to the very sensory friendly, durable Skoog musical instrument. Thanks to Skoogmusic for creating an instrument and app that inspires me to continually find opportunities for my students to express themselves. It is clear that Skoogmusic's number one priority is to provide tools to empower all!"
